

Pai Gow

The object of Pai Gow is to beat the banker's hand using your seven cards to create two separate hands consisting of a two-card hand and a five-card hand. The banker may be any player or the house dealer.

How to Play

Each player begins by placing a bet in the betting circle. Each circle receives seven cards with the order of deal determined by a random number generator. In order to win, both your two-card hand and your five-card hand must be higher in value than the banker's two-card and five-card hands. A "Push" occurs when only 1 of your 2 hands is higher in value. Your five-card hand must always be higher in ranking than your two-card hand. The house dealer will be happy to assist you in arranging your hands or explaining the rankings once all players have set their hands, and prior to the banker exposing his/her hand. Fortune Pai Gow is played using a standard deck of 52 playing cards, plus one Joker. The Joker, or "Bug" as it is known, can be used only as an Ace, or to complete a straight, a flush or a straight flush. Dealer will always assist by using the "House Way".

Winning hands are paid even money. The "banker" wins identical hands, called "Copy Hands". The winnings of each player and the net winnings of the player/banker are subject to a 5% commission collected by the dealer. Players are automatically offered the position of "banker" in sequence of play. They may however decline, in which case the house will deal and assume the position of "banker". Players may not communicate or exchange hand information during the play of a hand. Once the dealer exposes the banker's hand, players cannot touch their cards. Any player's hand that is set incorrectly (i.e. the two-card low hand ranks higher than the five-card high hand) is considered a "fouled" hand and is an automatic loser.

Fortune Bonus - Pai Gow

Players wishing to play the Fortune Bonus put an amount between $1 and $50 in the Fortune Bonus betting space immediately in front of their Pai Gow betting square. Players win if their seven-card hand contains combinations of cards shown on the Payout Table on the back. This payment will be received regardless of how players decide to set their hands. Additionally, wagers of $5 or greater on the Fortune Bonus are eligible for additional payments if ANY other player on the table receives a hand of four of a kind or higher! Players must play the basic game of Pai Gow to be able to bet the Fortune Bonus. The dealer's hand NEVER qualifies for ante bonus even when acting as a player.

HOUSE WAYS

Hand	How to Set
No Pair	The second and the third high card will be placed in the low hand; the highest and all remaining cards will be played in the high hand.
One Pair	Use the highest two single cards in the low hand, place the pair and all remaining cards in the high hand.
Two Pair	Always use this formula for pairs: 2-3-4-5= low pair 6-7-8-9=med pair 10-J-Q-K=high pair Aces=Aces Always split Aces with any other pair (NO EXCEPTION). Low-low or low-med always split (EXCEPTION). If you can play an Ace or a king in the low hand: Med-med or low-high always split (EXCEPTION). If you can play an Ace and a face in the low hand: Med-high or high-high always split (NO EXCEPTION).
Three Pair	Always play the highest pair in the low hand.
Three of a Kind	Always play the three of a kind in the high hand and play the next two highest cards in the low hand. (EXCEPTION) If the three of a kind is Aces, play a pair of Aces in the high hand and an Ace and the next highest card in the low hand. Two three of a kind will break the higher of three of a kind and use the high pair for the low hand, and the lowest three of a kind for the high hand.
Straight	Six and seven card straights...always play the highest two cards possible for the low hand while still playing a straight in the high hand. (EXCEPTION) If two pair is with the straight, apply the two pair rule. A straight with a flush at the same time always play the highest hand up front for the low hand.
Flush	Six and seven card flushes play the highest two cards possible in the low hand. (EXCEPTION) If two pair is with the flush, apply the two pair rule.
Full House	Play the pair in the low hand and the three of a kind in the high hand. Full house with another pair... play the highest pair in the low hand, and the full house in the high hand.
Four of a Kind	Apply the Two Pair rule. (EXCEPTION) If one pair or three of a kind are with the four of a kind Always play the highest pair in the low hand.
Five Aces	Always play a pair of Aces in the low hand.
